

Secondhand smoke

causes lung cancer, heart disease and asthma.

Why won't Senator Robert Boyce stop it?

Robert Boyce stands in the way of a healthier New Hampshire.

Secondhand smoke contains 4,000 chemicals, including arsenic and cyanide.

The Surgeon General says that secondhand smoke is “a serious health hazard that can lead to disease and premature death in children and nonsmoking adults.”

New Hampshire’s smoke-free bill (H.B. 1177) would have protected us from deadly secondhand smoke by requiring smoke-free workplaces, restaurants and bars.

But Senator Boyce voted against the smoke-free bill. He said “NO” to a healthier New Hampshire.

Senator Boyce chose to protect big tobacco instead of our children’s health.

Now it’s our time to choose.

In the Republican Primary for State Senate on Tuesday, September 12...

Vote NO to Senator Robert Boyce.

Vote YES to a healthier New Hampshire.
